

72 Script Fest Judging Process

Below are the elements Judges will be focused on during the reading of the 72 Script Fest entries.

Criteria

The criteria given for this screenplay have been satisfied.

Budget

The setting and special effects are appropriate for an extremely small budget film to be made in a 72 hour timeframe.

Character(s)

The character/characters are well-developed and interesting.

Story

There is a definite story arc that is compelling.

Dialogue

The dialogue is well-written and appropriate for the character/characters.

Uniqueness

The screenplay is either unique or is a unique take on a familiar story.

Filmability

The screenplay as written can be made into a good movie.

Trademarks

Obvious trademarked items (e.g., songs, movies, books) are avoided.

Grammar/Format

The screenplay is polished grammatically, and the format is similar to the on-line template.

Overall

I can't wait to see the filmed version of this screenplay in October!
